Montauk's first Satellite tag and all-release fishing tournament, Shark's Eye, hosted by Montauk Marine Basin, will expand to a two-day festival for sport, science, conservation and education on Saturday and Sunday July 27 and 28. Some of the foremost research scientists in the country will come to Montauk, where they will be joined by country music performer Colton James, and folk singer Caroline Doctorow. It's all to promote better understanding of the vital work being done to bring back large sharks and other species that once flourished in our waters. For more information on Shark's Eye please contact Carl Darenberg at yachts@optonline.net, call 668-5900, or visit www.sharkseyetournament.com.
